

Transforming Care:
Visit to Hyndburn Overview & Scrutiny Committee

October 2017

Contents

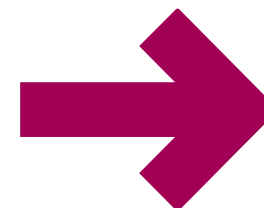

1. Introduction
2. Interaction throughout the consultation
3. Results of the consultation
4. Current position

1 Introduction

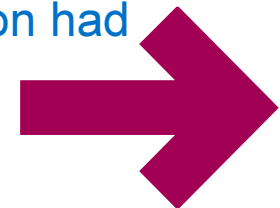

The aim of the presentation is to:

- Explain the level of interaction with the public and professional bodies throughout the consultation process.
- Outline the result of the consultation and discuss some feedback from key consultees.
- Describe what the current position is.
- Offer an opportunity to ask questions and collect your views to inform the next step in the process

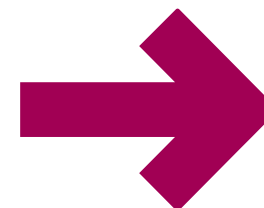

2. Interaction throughout the consultation

- We had 380 key stakeholders who were regularly contacted throughout the consultation with information on updates relating to it, and also how to take part.
- We visited numerous governing authorities which included health and wellbeing boards, overview and scrutiny committees and healthwatches.
- We also visited Mersey Care Whalley several times to speak to service users across all the wards to hear the views on the consultation. We then held a series of events with staff and carers to discuss any issues or concerns they may have had.
- All views received at these meetings were documented in an activity log which was sent to the independent evaluators once the consultation had finished.

3. Results of the consultation

- We received over 600 responses to the consultation via our online survey which included the views of service users, families of service users plus staff and carers at the Whalley Site.
- We also received a number of written responses, mostly from Healthcare providers, local government authorities and advocate groups who specialise in the care of those with LD and/or autism.
- All of the responses received were sent to Participate, the individual evaluators, who analysed the responses and produced a report . The leads of the consultation then made their own recommendations based on that report which then went before a panel of NHS England national directors.
- The panel of directors then made the decision and chose option 1:
To move all low and medium secure services off the Mersey Care Whalley site.

4. Current position

- MSU location in the North West 40 places
- LSU location in the North West 70 places
 - 15 Autism places at Alderley CWP
 - 15 Longer term at Elysium
 - 40 Female/Male places yet to be formally agreed
- Timescales for the changes
- New Clinical Model

